RULE CHANGES

MIAC men's and women's hockey teams will continue to utilize a points system to order conference standings in 2024-25. Victories achieved in regulation are worth three points, while overtime or shootout wins are worth two points. Losses in either overtime or a shootout are worth one point each. Playoff tiebreakers are also suited to fit the points system.

The NCAA Men's and Women's Ice Hockey Committee established several rule changes for the 2024-25 and 2025-26 seasons. Among the changes was an adjustment to the faceoff rule during situations where a violation occurs. The offending team's center will now be removed on the first faceoff violation and an alternative player will participate in the faceoff. The only exception to this procedure will be a faceoff after situations where one team may not change its players. The Committee also adjusted the reference point for high-sticking the puck infractions to be "above the height of the player's shoulders" instead of four feet. In terms of gameplay, the Committee affirmed that all NCAA regular-season games that remained tied will use a five-minute overtime period with three skaters on each side (unless penalties are in effect). If the game remains tied after the five-minute overtime, a shootout will be conducted.
